

Franklin US Mega Cap 100 UCITS ETF

Class SINGLECLASS • ISIN IE0008M1R3N4 • A sub-fund of Franklin Templeton ICAV
The management company is Franklin Templeton International Services S.à r.l.

Objectives and Investment Policy

Franklin US Mega Cap 100 UCITS ETF (the “Fund”) aims to provide exposure to large capitalisation stocks in the United States.

The Fund seeks to track the performance of the Solactive US Mega Cap 100 Select Index -NR (the “Index”) as closely as possible, regardless of whether the Index level rises or falls, while seeking to minimise as far as possible the tracking error between the Fund's performance and that of the Index.

The Index is a broad free float market-capitalisation weighted index which captures the largest 100 companies listed on the US stock market. The Index is derived from the Solactive Global Benchmark Series which includes approximately 1,500 companies on the US stock market. Index constituents are selected and weighted by free-float market capitalisation. The Index is rebalanced quarterly in February, May, August and November. The securities in which the Fund invests will be primarily listed or traded on recognised markets in the United States in accordance with the limits set out in the UCITS Regulations.

The Fund may use derivatives for efficient portfolio management purposes only.

The investment manager will aim to replicate the Index by holding all of the Index securities in a similar proportion to their weighting in the Index. However, in certain circumstances where full replication of the Index is not reasonably practical or possible, the Fund may hold only those of the Index securities which are available or may invest in instruments that are not included in the Index but which the investment manager believes will help the Fund replicate the Index, e.g. securities which provide similar price and yield performance and risk profiles to constituents of the Index.

Although the Index is generally well diversified, because of the market it reflects it contains constituents issued by the same body that may represent more than 10% of the Index. Accordingly, the Fund is permitted to hold positions in individual constituents of the Index issued by the same body of up to 20% of the Fund's Net Asset Value.

The Fund's shares are listed and traded on one or more stock exchanges. In normal circumstances, only authorised participants (e.g. select financial institutions) may deal in shares directly with the Fund. Other investors can deal in shares daily through a broker on stock exchange(s) on which the shares are traded.

Terms to Understand

Large-capitalisation stock: stock of companies with large market capitalisation generally accounting accumulatively for the top 70% of the capitalisation of a domestic stock market.

Derivatives: Financial instruments whose characteristics and value depend on the performance of one or more underlying assets, typically securities, indexes, currencies or interest rates.

Large-capitalisation stock: stock of companies with large market capitalisation generally accounting accumulatively for the top 70% of the capitalisation of a domestic stock market.

Free float: only shares available to international investors rather than all of a company's issued shares are used in calculating the Underlying Index.

Free float market capitalisation: the share price of a company multiplied by the number of shares available to international investors.

Treatment of Income: For accumulation shares, income from investments is reinvested in the Fund and reflected in the price of shares.

The Fund may appeal to investors looking to track the performance of large capitalisation stocks in the United States, and who are willing to hold their investment over the medium to long term, for a minimum period of 3 to 5 years. The Fund may be suitable for investors who do not have specific knowledge and/or experience of financial markets and who understand that they may not get back the full amount invested in the Fund.

Risk and Reward Profile

What does this indicator mean and what are its limits?

This indicator is designed to provide you with a measure of the price movement of this share class based on historical behavior.

Historical data may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the Fund. The category shown is not guaranteed to remain unchanged and may shift over time.

The lowest category does not mean risk free.

Why is the Fund in this specific category?

The Fund aims to provide exposure to large capitalisation stocks in the United States. Such assets have historically been subject to price movements due to such factors as general stock market volatility, changes in the financial outlook or fluctuations in currency markets. As a result, the performance of the Fund can fluctuate significantly over relatively short time periods.

Risks materially relevant not adequately captured by the indicator:

Counterparty risk: the risk of failure of financial institutions or agents (when serving as a counterparty to financial contracts) to perform their obligations, whether due to insolvency, bankruptcy or other causes.

Index Tracking Risk: No financial instrument or set of investment techniques enables the returns of any Index to be reproduced or tracked exactly. Changes in the investments of any Sub-Fund and re-weightings of the relevant Index may give rise to various transaction costs, operating expenses or inefficiencies which may adversely impact a Sub-Fund's tracking of an Index.

Derivative Instruments risk: the risk of loss in an instrument where a small change in the value of the underlying investment may have a larger impact on the value of such instrument. Derivatives may involve additional liquidity, credit and counterparty risks.

Index License Risk: To utilise an Index, the Fund may need to have a licence agreement signed with the Index Provider. If, at any time in respect of an Index, the licence granted terminates or disputed, impaired or ceases to exist, the Directors may be forced to replace the Index with another Index. Such a substitution or any delay in such a substitution may have an adverse impact on the Sub-Fund.

Index related risk: the risk that quantitative techniques used in creating the Index the Fund seeks to track do not generate the intended result, or that the portfolio of the Fund deviates from its Index composition or performance.

Passive Investment Risk: An Index Tracking Sub-Fund will be negatively affected by general declines in the securities and asset classes represented in its Index. Because Index Tracking Sub-Funds are not “actively” managed, Market disruptions and regulatory restrictions could have an adverse effect on an Index Tracking Sub-Fund's ability to adjust its exposure to the required levels.

Foreign Exchange Hedging Risk: Hedging transactions are designed to reduce, as much as possible, the currency risk for investors. No intentional leveraging should result from currency hedging transactions. There is no guarantee that attempts to hedge currency risk will be successful and no hedging strategy can eliminate currency risk entirely. Should a hedging strategy be incomplete or unsuccessful, the value of that Sub-Fund's assets and income can remain vulnerable to fluctuations in currency exchange rate movements.

Single Country/Region Risk: This fund invests primarily in US, which means that it is more sensitive to local economic, market, political or regulatory events in US, and will be more affected by these events than other funds that invest in a broader range of regions.

Equity risk: Prices of equities may be affected by factors such as economic, political, market, and issuer-specific changes. Such changes may adversely affect the value of the equities regardless of company-specific performance.

For a full discussion of all the risks applicable to this Fund, please refer to the “Risk Considerations” section of the current prospectus of Franklin Templeton ICAV.
